Important Ottawa Session on Tree Fruits Postponed

Conference of Tree Fruit Industry with Dominion Minister of Agriculture is Delayed Until Near End of Month—Nova Scotia Ready to Make Demands on Ottawa for Better Deal This Year—To Consider What Assistance Government Can Offer Towards Solving Marketing Problem of Fruit Producers—Some Shippers Here Hopeful That Export Deal Will Right Itself

Estimate Only Half Subsidy Fund Will be Used

REPRESENTATIVES of the Okanagan fruit industry who expected to travel to Ottawa for a conference with Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, to discuss the government attitude regarding subsidy for the coming year's fruit crop in the interior of B.C. and other producing areas of Canada, will not be leaving for at least two weeks, as the meeting planned for April 15 at the capital city has been postponed indefinitely, due to the sudden departure of the minister. It is expected that he will return to Ottawa before the end of the month and call this all-important agricultural conference.

What requests the B.C. tree fruit industry will make to the minister have not been revealed. Major M. V. McGuire, a member of the national apple advisory council, will be one of the Okanagan delegation and probably either A. K. Loyd or Dave McNair, or maybe both, will accompany him east. E. J. Chambers is another likely delegate, but it is not certain if he will make the trip.

Nova Scotia Demands

Earlier in the month Nova Scotia fruit growers demanded an interview with Mr. Gardiner on April 8, but the Dominion minister was not ready to discuss terms at that time, and besides that, had to leave Ottawa suddenly on other business. Therefore, the Nova Scotia demands have not been heard yet at the capital.

Nova Scotia expects to obtain a much better deal than in the past season when, because of lack of shipping, a considerable portion of her export quota was turned over to British Columbia for shipment via Pacific boats, thus relieving the pressure of the big B.C. crop to a great extent.

Because of the unanimous approval of the Mackenzie King government by Nova Scotia, it is said here that the fruit growers feel they are in a position to make demands upon the minister of agriculture.

In the meantime, the sudden turn of events in the war situation has caused some concern here regarding the export situation. If other countries, now neutral, especially Italy, side in with Germany, the prospect of obtaining ship bottoms for transport of apples across the seas would grow much dimmer, it is felt in some quarters in Kelowna.

On the other hand Norwegian shipping which contains the world's fourth largest merchant marine, may be available for transport of Canadian products to the Old Country.

It is understood that some British buyers had expressed confidence, prior to Germany's invasion of the Scandinavian countries, that British Columbia would enjoy a fair export deal next year and that there would not be any appreciable decline in the amount of apples sent to the Old Country.

Officials were worried Government officials in Canada, however, have expressed grave concern for some time that because of lack of exchange the Old Country would shut down sharply on export of apples from Canada, as apples are in a semi-luxury line.

All these factors will be gone into carefully when the Ottawa conference is held, it is expected, and Turn to page 5, story 2

British Import Regulations Cause Canners Concern About Fruit and Vegetable Packs

Minister of Trade and Commerce Advises Kelowna Board of Trade That Tomatoes Should Not be Planted for Export This Year—British Ministry of Food is Sole Importer of All Canned Fruits and Vegetables—Series of Telegrams Exchanged in Effort to Clarify Situation

As a result of enquiries instituted by the Kelowna Board of Trade, rather disquieting word has been received from Hon. W. R. Euler, Minister of Trade and Commerce, regarding the export of Canadian canned fruits and vegetables to Britain this year.

Following a recent announcement in London that Britain would import but little canned fruits and vegetables and those under licence, the Board of Trade appointed a committee to contact Hon. Grotte Stirling in an effort to obtain additional information. As a result a series of telegrams have been interchanged between Mr. Stirling and Mr. Euler.

PRINCESS ESTHER MANN

who accompanies Queen Patricia of the Wenatchee Apple Blossom Festival to Kelowna this afternoon.

The third telegram from the minister reached Kelowna on Wednesday and read: "Referring further to your telegram, fourth, our representatives in London cabled yesterday that the Ministry of Food is becoming sole importer of canned fruits and vegetables and it was decided in principle, though this is not necessarily final, to permit no exports from Canada during next few months. This situation due to Treasury's insistence on exchange difficulties. Our representatives of opinion that at best, with the present exchange rate, it would be impossible to export surplus of canned apples from last season and possibly small percentage of normal imports of canned fruits and vegetables and soups. Answering our enquiry as to planting tomatoes in anticipation United Kingdom market trade commissioner was advised that planting should not be undertaken for export this year but says this advice possibly also not final."

This telegram was the third from Mr. Euler, replying to one sent by Mr. Stirling which read:

"Reference U. K. Board of Trade order whereby imports of canned fruit and vegetables is prohibited except under import licence, do you understand that absolutely no canned vegetables and fruits from Canada will be admitted into the U.K. this year, or will they permit some under licence? If licence will be granted for some can you obtain information?"

The Royal Party will include beside the Queen, two princesses and Mrs. A. S. Knechtel, Queen's chaperon; Mrs. E. F. Wisenburt, Princess chaperon and Elmer J. Nelson, treasurer of the festival. The party will arrive here from Vernon at four-fifteen and will be entertained at tea at the Royal Anne by the members of the executives of the senior and junior boards of trade. They will leave for Penticton on the five-ten ferry.

UNSOLD BALANCE OF APPLE CROP NOW 136,000

Rapid Decline of Unsold Apples Speeded by Advance Sale of Winesaps—Raise Prices Ten Cents

Although the balance on hand is estimated at 136,000 boxes of apples, as at April 6, the actual unsold balance of apples from the 1939 Okanagan crop is only 136,000 boxes. B. C. Tree Fruits Ltd., to the Courier this week. Some 54,000 boxes of Winesaps were sold some weeks ago for last shipment. These orders were confirmed, a deposit placed and most of the delivery will take place in May, it is stated.

This figure compares very favorably with the balance on hand at the same time last year and no difficulty is expected in selling the rest of the crop on hand.

Last week-end, the final movement of McIntosh apples was seen, with 25,000 boxes moving out. These McIntoshes formed by far the largest single variety produced in the interior during the past year, the total being more than two million boxes.

Ninety-seven cars of produce were moved from the Okanagan last week, including 15 cars of onions and 57,750 boxes of apples. In the same week in 1939, the domestic market took only 38,362 boxes of apples.

On March 20, Tree Fruits lifted prices somewhat but on April 2 a drastic price rise of ten cents per box was made on all available grades of Delicious, Newtowns, Staymans and Stayman Winesaps, Mr. Loyd states.

Kelowna Sportsmen Would Give Game Commission Authority Over All Sport Fishing in Province

Annual Meeting of Kelowna Rod and Gun Club Would Take All Control from Dominion Fisheries—Commissioner Cunningham Discusses Rearing Ponds and Many Other Phases of Sport Fishing in This Section—President Jock Stirling Presents Annual Report at Poorly Attended Session

DECISION to press again for the complete control of sport fishing in this province to be vested with the B.C. Game Commission, was reached at the annual meeting of the Kelowna Rod and Gun Club, held in the Orange hall on Tuesday evening, when a much smaller attendance than usual was recorded, owing to many conflicting functions. At present, the Dominion Fisheries department has no personnel to keep it in touch with conditions opening and closing of waters may be required on short notice, the sportsmen agreed that the game commission should be vested with this authority.

A. D. Marshall, well-known sports club worker, was the advocate of this resolution, following a short talk by J. G. Cunningham, Game Commissioner, who was present from the coast.

"If Ottawa gives us the right to control," he declared, stating that climatic conditions should govern the opening and closing of lakes and streams.

KELOWNA PLAYS HOST TO ROYAL PARTY

Queen Patricia of Wenatchee Apple Blossom Festival and Party Visits City This Afternoon

Queen Patricia, who will be crowned as Her Majesty of the Wenatchee Apple Blossom Festival on April 26 and 27, accompanied by her two main princesses, Princess Esther and Princess Virginia, will arrive in Kelowna this afternoon, Thursday, and will be entertained by the senior and junior boards of trade at an informal tea at the Royal Anne hotel.

The visiting party from Wenatchee is on a goodwill tour of the Okanagan, publicizing the great Wenatchee Apple Blossom Festival, which attracts continent-wide attention every year.

Elmer J. Nelson, treasurer of the blossom festival, will be in charge of the party, and besides the royal members there will be Mrs. A. S. Knechtel, the queen's chaperon, and Mrs. E. P. Wisenburt, the princess' chaperon.

Penticton, Kelowna and Vernon will be visited by the Wenatchee royal party. Last year, they were guests of the Board of Trade to dinner and were also entertained during the evening, but on this occasion, with Vernon being included, the party will be in Kelowna for only one night.

Kelowna Financial Standing Assured With Record Bid

Toronto Finance House Heads Tender List for New Serial Bond Issue with Bid of 102.33—Believed Record Price for City Bonds During War Period—Bonds Bear Interest Rate of 3 3/4 Per Cent—Mayor McKay Highly Pleased with High Rate Offered—One Financial Firm Refuses to Bid Knowing That Kelowna's Standing is Such That Bids Would be Too High

Issue Equals Status of Dominion Issue

EVIDENCE that Kelowna city stands in as firm a financial position as any city or municipality in Canada was plainly portrayed this week when the city council, in committee, accepted a tender submitted by the financial firm of Harrison & Co., Ltd., 66 King St. W., Toronto, of 102.33, plus accrued interest, for the $85,000 issue of serial bonds at 3 3/4 per cent interest to finance the extension of the sewer system to all major portions of the city. The council had expected bids of far or slightly better, but this offer was beyond even the most optimistic member's conception, due to the war conditions prevailing and the depressing influence of the European conflict on the bond market.

Out of the twelve bids on these bonds opened by the city council on Monday evening, eight submitted bids of better than par. Five of these eight bids were from Toronto firms and three from Vancouver.

Mayor G. A. McKay expressed the council's satisfaction with this expression of faith in the sound financial position of Kelowna, when interviewed by The Courier this week.

Equals Dominion "This bid compares favorably with the Dominion of Canada issue of a few weeks ago," commented His Worship. "The Dominion of Canada bonds are issued at par with an interest rate of 3 3/4 per cent, which would yield a few cents less than our issue."

"When I first entered into council service, eastern Canada financial firms wouldn't accept western Canadian bonds if you gave them away. Now two Toronto firms submitted the highest bids on our latest offering." He paid tribute to past mayors and councils who laid the financial foundation for the excellent financial position in which Kelowna now finds itself.

Last fall, a record bid was submitted by A. E. Ames & Co., for the $65,000 hospital bond issue bearing the same interest rate. That bid was 103.26 and it was made before the declaration of war.

One letter received by the council from a Vancouver financial firm over the week-end gave the city fathers a feeling of justifiable pride.

Pleasing Letter "As we will not be tendering up on the bonds we would like to give you our reasons," the bond house wrote.

"We feel that the obligations of your city will command such a high price that they will not be suitable for our retail account in any great volume. The credit rating which the obligations of the City of Kelowna enjoys, together with one or two others, in a province where high credit ratings are not general, gives the answer very partially to those people who continually cry for low interest rates—yet whose actions tend to make high interest rates the only ones possible."

"Another local financial firm wrote stating it would prefer an option for one week on the bonds at 101 or 102 as there were no customers available at that moment for bonds carrying such a high rate."

"But we believe you should obtain a high bid of 104 or over 100 for the bonds. This position, in our opinion, is well advised to accept rather than grant an option," declared this firm, in a tone of mild triumph.

Prepare for Tourists

Next week, April 15th to 22nd, has been designated as "Prepare For Tourists" by His Worship the Mayor. The idea is that the city during that period should be cleaned up and painted up that it may present as fair an appearance as possible to the tourists who will shortly be making their appearance.

Housewives automatically indulge in their spring cleaning and these "Clean Up" weeks are actually nothing more than a city-wide cleaning up of premises and back lanes. Many householders give their property as thorough a house cleaning as their wives give the houses, but, unfortunately, there are many more who give their property no attention whatsoever. There is actually no reason why the property should not be just as neat and as free from debris as the inside of the house but when one sees an untidy lawn and a littered backyard, one cannot but wonder if it but reflects the condition of the house inside.

Just as a house needs a thorough cleaning to remove the last traces of the winter season, so does any lawn, garden or vacant lot need a touch of the rake. Despite the most meticulous care, a certain amount of debris does accumulate during the winter and, if this is not removed, it remains an eyesore to plague the passerby during the entire summer season.

Some may claim that "a man's home is his castle" and maintain they will not clean their property unless they feel so inclined but when a man allows his property to become so littered with debris that it is then considered to be an eyesore, his business becomes the concern of every person in the city. The advantage of having a neat, tidy city of pleasing appearance is so obvious that the point does not need to be labored.

The Junior Board of Trade is handling the "Prepare for Tourists" week program. Plans have been made by that body to scrutinize every property in the entire city. They will explore back lanes and investigate vacant lots. The plans have been so carefully laid that it is unlikely that a single pile of rubbish will escape the committee's scrutiny. Properties which cannot pass muster will be listed for further action.

Lanes, it is understood, will be given extra care and in this regard, the Junior Board of Trade has to have a large number of names to add to its list as many of the lanes in this city are beyond a disgrace. Many property owners have actually squatted on the city property abutting the rear of their premises. Piles of wood, humus boxes, barrels, boxes, and what have you have all been piled blissfully in the lane and allowed to stay there. In some cases permanent structures have been erected on the city property. These not only make the lane unsightly, they create a traffic hazard which on more than one occasion has been the cause of a near-accident.

In undertaking to direct the cleanup campaign, the members of the Junior Board of Trade are endeavoring to serve, not with any hope of personal gain but because a better, more prosperous community may be the outcome of their efforts. The part to be played by the people of the city depends on the people themselves but the logic of the Cleanup Week proposals is so evident that the board should be accorded the utmost co-operation of every property owner and every renter within the city limits.

School Boy Traffic Patrols

During the past several months the school-boy traffic patrols on Richter Street have demonstrated their worth and have met with the general approval of motor and pedestrian traffic as well as that of the educational authorities.

Motorists have gained confidence in the work of the lads stationed at the school corners and pass these spots during the noon hour periods with many less heart-throbs than they experienced formerly when the school pupils ran wild.

School authorities, while naturally interested in the safety angle, feel that the greater value of the patrols lies in the practical safety educational methods demonstrated. They hope that through the activities of the patrols, the future generations of Kelownians will be more traffic conscious.

The schoolboy traffic patrols are doing good work within the limits of their authority. The city bylaw gives the youngsters authority to patrol certain street corners at certain hours of the day. Any school pupils who buck the traffic laws during that period are given a summons and brought up before a student's traffic court which deals with them, it is reported, rigorously.

The idea might be advantageously extended a little. The patrols might be given authority over certain blocks adjacent to the schools and there they might supervise the student traffic. They would then have definite means of bringing home to the students that they must walk on the left hand side of the street and ride their bicycles on the right hand side. A roving patrol might be established which would check up on students in other sections of the city and this patrol might give special attention to the bicycle-riding students on Bernard and other city streets. These have become the greatest traffic menace in the city and unless some steps are taken to curtail the wild and indiscriminate bicycle riding on the city streets, serious accidents are bound to occur.

City Park Improvements

The citizens of this city are due for a very pleasant surprise when they commence to use the city park within a few weeks. They will find that extensive and effective improvements have been undertaken during the winter and that they have added greatly to the beauty and usefulness of this popular beauty spot.

Kelowna City Park has enjoyed a reputation as the finest park in the Interior and the new innovations can but enhance that reputation. A new and more pleasing entrance is replacing the former unsightly log archway; an attractive rack railing has been placed around the central flower bed in the driveway; additional accommodation in the way of buildings is being provided. Two of the major improvements, of course, are the large rockery near the Aquatic Club which in future years will add much to the beauty of this section of the park, and the rose garden near the Harvey Street entrance which will merit the enthusiasm of even the most critical flower lover. This garden, it will be remembered, was planned last year to commemorate the Royal Visit to this country.

The Aquatic Club is also doing its part to keep the motif of the park harmonious. The lattice fence along the front of the club's lawn has been dismantled and is being replaced by a low stone wall in keeping with the Coronation Fountain and the stone curbs which will mark the park driveways. The Aquatic has also changed its entrance, making for a more attractive building.

As Chairman of the Parks Department, Alderman Horn for the past two years has quietly developed the park in many respects. He has contributed much careful thought, time and enthusiasm. Indeed, so great has been his enthusiasm that many of the plants, shrubs and bulbs, which have been placed in the park this year, have been gifts from citizens inspired by his enthusiasm. In this connection it is interesting to note that many of the most valuable specimens have been donated by people of the surrounding district who are not residents of the city. This generous gesture gives a slight indication of the closeness of community spirit between the people of the city and those of the adjacent rural areas.

The City Park this year will present a greatly improved face to those who desire to enjoy its beauties. Much of the credit for the improvements must go to Alderman Horn. For the park's sake it is to be hoped that he will retain the chairmanship of the department for some years that he may complete the long-range park improvement plan he has in mind.

Profitable Back-Scratching

The rallying call this week in Kelowna is "Buy B.C. Products." It is a call that is raised here annually through advertising in The Courier and displays of B.C.-made goods in city stores, but it is a call that might well be raised daily. And it will be, if the efforts of the British Columbia Products Bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade are even partially successful.

There is no reason why the bureau's efforts should not be so crowned. To buy B.C. products is simply to assist in up-building our own economy. It is, in one sense, a form of back-scratching; we buy B.C. products so that those who sell B.C. produce and who are engaged in the manufacture of B.C. products will have more money with which to buy the articles or services we ourselves sell. There is nothing wrong or dumb in that, for even if we pay a few cents more for B.C. products of a quality equal to those made elsewhere, we are not hurting ourselves; we are only assuring the standards of wages and return for effort which is higher in B.C. than elsewhere in Canada. We are assuring also ourselves and our descendants that British Columbia will remain a province where such conditions exist, and will become increasingly so.

The housewife engaged in stretching an income which sometimes doesn't seem to be big enough to meet all the family demands may flat-footedly declare her buying is going to be governed by price. She should remember before she takes such an untenable position that low price and poor quality can be a bad bargain when compared to reasonable price and good quality. Bigger holes can be punched in the budget by price-buying than by price-and-quality buying. And purchasing by price may also result in reducing the amount of housekeeping money, for if the housewife sets price as her standard, manufacturers and producers will have to also, and wages are, after all, only the price of labor.

Buying B.C. products will not hurt the budget as much as not buying B.C. products. And if the housewife will sit down tonight and think the proposition through, she will agree, however reluctantly,

Britain Plans for Action

Following the recent change in the French Government aimed at conducting the war with greater vigor, Mr. Chamberlain has reorganized his Cabinet with the same idea in view.

Mr. Churchill, in showing such great force as First Lord of the Admiralty, is the logical choice as director of all Britain's armed services. The function of the Service Committee will be "to keep under constant review the main factors in the strategic situation and progress of operations and make recommendations to the Cabinet on the general conduct of the war."

The formation of the Service Committee, consisting of the chairman and the service ministers, follows closely the policy adopted during the Great War, when the narrowing down of responsibilities produced more effective results.

That Britain and France are determined to prosecute the war with relentless drive and vigor there can be little doubt. Early despatches suggest the formation in Britain of two further committees, one of the Home Policy Committee to deal with food and agriculture, the other the Economic Policy Committee for trade and finance. The importance of putting the entire war effort under three committees of two or three ministers each, with the Prime Minister as chairman, is ample recognition of the danger of inefficiency of overgovernment in wartime. A multiplicity of views on war or anything else can only result in futile discussion, which tends not only to delay but to indecision. The old maxim "two heads are better than one" may be true, but in war, or indeed in peace, two heads make quicker and more satisfactory decisions than a number of indifferent ones.

Political changes in Empire countries and in France would suggest that Allied leadership is more firmly established to prosecute the war energetically and to final victory. It is unlikely that, with Mr. Churchill in his present capacity, we need expect any vacillation in problems of strategy. The lesson of the British Cabinet reshuffle and the purposes which the war committees are intended to serve may be influential in suggesting a similar reorganization in Canada's war drive.

The principle, in any case, held good in the Great War, and now in this, that in the direction of the war, where quick decision and prompt action are vital, diffusion of responsibility produces the least satisfactory results.

Where Dictators Disagree

By WILLSON WOODSIDE

Conflicting Ambitions and Mutual Suspicions Operate Against a Successful Balkan Pact.

Willson Woodside

At the time of Hitler's meeting with Mussolini on the Brenner the air was full of talk about a new triangular pact between Italy, Germany and Russia to keep the Allies out of the Balkans and Near East.

Less has been heard about it lately, but it is perhaps too soon to be sure that it will not come about. In making such a pact the three dictators would have the strong common interest of keeping the big war away from this part of the world, where it could hardly fail to involve them all. That consideration may in the end prevail over all others.

Yet I can see many divergent interests, many jealousies and rivalries which will hinder the conclusion of such an agreement. What Hitler wants from such a pact is fairly clear. He would hope to seal the Balkans to Allied intervention and monopolize all its supplies for Germany. He would like to have Russia's promise to keep hands off Roumania and Italy's threats to harass the Allies' communications with their Near Eastern armies and keep them from embarking on any large-scale campaign in that region. But if Hitler is so anxious for the pact, to serve his interests, Mussolini and Stalin are certainly going to sniff it over carefully to see how it would serve theirs.

Right here one is faced with the fact that for Mussolini such a pact, inviting Russia back into participation in European affairs, would run counter to his main diplomatic effort of the last decade. Has he not during all this time done everything possible to exclude Russia from Europe? Was it not he who originated the Four Power Pact, which way to make Italy powerful, Italy and Germany a directorate of four to run Europe? Did he not fight a war in Spain to keep Russia from gaining a foothold in Western Europe? Did he not gravitate towards Germany when France made her pact with the Soviet in 1935, and leave Germany flat when Hitler signed with Stalin last August? Did he not supply the Finns against the Russians and promise Italy's support to the Hungarians and Roumanians against the same menace? He did all these things, and not on account of emotion or prejudice either, but for reasons of highest state policy.

Before the Great War European questions were regulated by the five Great Powers, Russia, France, Britain, Germany and Austria-Hungary, more often than not with Britain acting as mediator or referee between the first two and the last two. Italy played a very small role. The war changed this completely. Austria-Hungary disintegrated, Russia retired from Europe and Italy was left in a position to hold the balance of power between Germany and the rival Anglo-French Entente. This accident of fortune and Mussolini's great adroitness have allowed Italy to exert an influence far beyond that of a Great Power. Her true strength is disclosed when her neighbors are mobilized; notice how little Italy blusters and threatens today.

Still Italy has just enough weight to tip the scales one way or the other when the two sides are as evenly balanced as Germany and the Allies are today. The essence of Mussolini's policy, I believe, is to preserve this position and by keeping Italy out of the war, at least until almost the end, and building up her strength while Germany and the Allies are dissipating theirs, secure an even more favorable place after the war. This whole conception would be blasted were Russia to participate again in European affairs. It is hard to see Mussolini himself inviting her back in, and especially ally-into the Eastern Mediterranean, the very focus of Italy's ambition.

Then there is the question of whether the proposed Balkan Pact would really help to keep the war from Italy's door. It would draw Italy into closer association with Germany. The allies might then clamp the blockade tighter on Italy, so vulnerable to Anglo-French sea power. Eighty per cent of Italy's imports pass through Gibraltar and Suez. What would Italy's factories and working population do, what would Mussolini do, were these supplies to be cut off? Gone would be his whole profitable war trade with the allies, the only side which has real money. He would be left at Germany's mercy for supplies and forced into her war.

But Italy doesn't want to fight to make Germany stronger, stronger to push her out of Central Europe and the Balkans and perhaps push through to Trieste and the Adriatic. Throughout the whole of her history Italy has had to hold off the barbarians pressing against her northern frontier drawn towards the sunny South. It is inconceivable that she should join with the barbarians and fight for them and against her own Roman and Christian civilization. Italy looks to no happy future in a German victory. Nor would she welcome a sweeping Allied victory. What she wants is something like a draw which would leave both sides weakened and her position correspondingly strengthened.

One cannot be so confident about Stalin's ultimate aims, but they are probably not very different, with the spreading of communism thrown in for good measure. Even a year ago when we were trying to win him into the Peace Front we had no illusions that he loved us and we can have fewer still today. But neither does he love Germany, and his actions since the beginning of the war betray, to my mind at least, a deep distrust of Hitler's final purpose. And after all, why should Stalin trust this man who has bared his dreams of conquering the Ukraine in "Mein Kampf", openly coveted the wealth of the Urals before his Nuremberg Party Congress, formed an "Anti-Comintern" league with Japan and Italy, and tried to tempt Poland into a common adventure against Russia?

Without detailing what the Kaiser's "Friendship" cost Russia when she was in difficulties after the war with Japan in 1905, or digging up the Treaty of Brest-Litovsk of 1917, it may be said that no "friendship" such as we understand it is possible between Germany and Russia for a long time to come. Their relation today is dominated by mutual suspicion, crude strength and sheer opportunism.

Thus when Hitler found himself, contrary to his calculations, engaged in a full-sized war in the West last Fall, Stalin hurried to collect his share and more of the booty won by German arms in Poland, to snatch the Polish oil fields, to establish his military power in the Baltic States and force out the Germans, and to throw his troops across the path of the German armies advancing to the Roumanian border. Can any other construction be put on these steps than that they were intended to block an ultimate German move against Russia? Nor is that changed by the fact that Stalin at the same time took measures aimed at thwarting an ultimate British attack, trying to seize from the Finns control of the approaches to Leningrad and to dictate to the Turks when and against whom they must close the Straits.

Believe that Stalin very much wanted to have Bessarabia as further insurance against a German attack on the Ukraine, that he would still like to grab it and is worried to see the Germans burrowing so diligently in Roumania. He might have agreed last Fall to a partition of the latter state, taking Bessarabia and Moldavia to himself, giving the Dobruja to Bulgaria and the rest to Germany. But any such attempt at the present time would certainly mean a real war. It is doubtful whether

The Sultan of Turkey has stated that the Dardanelles cannot be forced by the Allies. The German auxiliary cruiser "Prinz Eitel Friedrich" will be interned in America during the duration of the war. A Rome despatch says that Austria is now ready to sue for peace and Germany is believed to have acquiesced, which would naturally mean the end of the war. The German Emperor's mission to Vienna to attempt to have Austria give territorial concessions to Italy to obtain Italy's continued neutrality is said to have failed.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Thursday, April 8, 1920

Among names prominently mentioned at the annual meeting of the Kelowna Amateur Athletic Association were Jan MacRae, Alwyn Weddell, Norm DeHart, Graham Kincaid, H. Lee, J. Jeunens, F. M. Buckland, and Messrs. Newby, Urquhart and Rogers.

At 10:30 o'clock in the United Church on Wednesday morning, Albert Stanton Wade was joined by Rev. E. D. Braden in marriage to Miss Flossie Luella Perry, daughter of Lt.-Col. J. Perry.

At the residence of Rev. Father Verbeke at 8 o'clock Monday morning, John Mallett-Paret was united to Miss Nellie Blanche Shaylor, daughter of Mrs. B. Shaylor.

A flurry of snow, accompanied by a cold wind, was a disagreeable surprise on Friday morning, when the hot cross buns were being served.

IN EXACTLY SEVENTEEN minutes I have to be somewhere else. For two hours and nine minutes I have been seated in front of this typewriter, wrestling with it in an endeavor to agree on one topic . . . Just one topic . . . that we could discuss intelligently and refused. But the typewriter has been cantankerous and refused to agree. I guess it's spring fever . . . The neighbor's dog yawned in my face this morning; stretched and yawned and then lay down again and snoozed. A cat on a fence post looked up as the dog yawned and yawned too, stretched and went back to its doze in the sun. On the way to town an overgrown boy on a tricycle started to ride rings around a chalk mark in the road. He yawned and stretched and then merely sat still on the tricycle, dozing in the centre of the street. The students on their way to school seemed to be dragging heavy, reluctant feet. A car pulled up at a stop-sign with the driver yawning and stretching and stopped so long that I thought he, too, was dozing. I think he must have caught it from the boy on the tricycle. The policeman on the street corner—but let us have no tales out of school. All the way into the city the public was yawning and stretching by platoons and companies; the traffic yawned, stretched and yawned, and wandered across street intersections in a most undecided manner . . . In this place where I work, I tried to work, but it was of little use. I kept remembering the boy on the tricycle, the neighbor's dog, the policeman, the car driver, and a whole town-full of people, yawning and stretching. Spring, I think . . . soooooo Pardon me! . . . is here . . .

AND NOW IT'S HOURS later and still the words refuse to come. After all it is spring and the dog and the cat are still dozing in the sun . . . Would that I could doze there too, baby . . . But what to talk about? What is a good subject on this glorious day? What about how nice it would be on the golf course right now? That would be too much like sticking the knife in and then turning it . . . Well, then, what about a learned discourse on propaganda? Too much effort on too dry a subject for such a wonderful day. The northern lights display the other night? That would require real brain work to describe adequately and, anyhow, everyone around here surely saw it . . . or they should have . . . I wonder if it would be worth while endeavoring to think of something interesting to say about stockings. Yes, stockings . . .

STOCKINGS ARE AN always interesting subject for discussion and observation. Perhaps if we take a good run and a jump at the subject we may get somewhere with this column yet . . . Incidentally, for the benefit of the feminine readers of this column, if any, I might say that if there is one thing more than another that a man dislikes about a woman's stockings, it is two things. Seeing them wrinkled and the seam running cockeyed down the leg . . . Time was, and not so long ago, when women wore cotton stockings exclusively. That was all right, I suppose, for legs weren't visible. I do not know but I have a good idea, it was the advent of the silk stocking that forced the skirts upwards. After all a woman with a good pair of legs has no desire to hide them. But if she must wear the old cotton stockings she might just as well. Anyway a few years ago silk stockings at a price the common people could afford . . . or the women persuaded their husbands that they could . . . and the cotton stocking just about passed out of the picture, excepting in Quebec where the French girls still wear 'em. But now the pendulum is swinging back and cotton stockings may come of age this spring for Canadian women . . .

r p m

IF YOU ARE STILL with me, you may be interested to know that, after a year's experimentation, designs for fifty-six types of full fashioned hose have been released to manufacturers by the United States Agricultural Department Bureau of Home Economics. Several of these designs will be manufactured for over-the-counter sales in the near future. They were developed as part of an effort to stimulate greater use of surplus American cotton. Cotton stockings have worn better and are not given to sudden runs like silk but up to the present a decent lisle stocking has been higher priced than ordinary silk and the best of them look heavy and blotchy. No price range has yet been assigned to the newly developed cotton stocking but it is a safe bet they will be cheaper than silk. Designs range from plain knits for service use to those with mesh heels and toes, two-way stretch welts and other style features used only in silk and rayon hose . . . If the manufacturers have really got something this time, women will lift a loud chorus of thanks for their liberation from sudden runs and snags.

r p m

SPRING FEVER IS THAT condition of the body wherein death itself appears preferable to moving in any direction whatever . . .

r p m

IT SEEMS TO ME THAT in this spring weather one should talk about light subjects and what could be lighter than the hole in a doughnut . . . Ninety years ago Hanson Gregory, of Camden, Maine, a schooner captain and a culinary dabbler, was credited with being the man who first put the hole in the doughnut. He was honored posthumously with a doughnut festival by the Maine Hotelmen's association at its annual spring meeting. The story is that Gregory once lost six men overboard after they had eaten soggy doughnuts of the holeless variety. The holeless doughnut made them sink "to the bottom like plummets before a rescue could be made." Worried by the lethal nature of the holeless doughnut, Gregory began experimenting and fashioned his model after a life preserver, punching the hole in a piece of dough, with a belying pin. Thus the modern doughnut was born. Not only will the hole allow the fat to encircle the doughnut and cook it thoroughly but it gives the coffee dunker a better grip. No announcement was made by the hotelmen's association as to whether dunking was permitted at the spring doughnut festival . . .

SPRING IS THE TIME for poets to strut their stuff, they say, and perhaps a little poetry might go well now. But poetry requires mental effort and how can even a poet waste mental effort on such a day? Then, too, if I began writing poetry someone would desire to hitherize me and while that would not be so bad at the moment perhaps tomorrow will not be so springlike and I may have a desire to live . . . I had better forget the poetry . . . Anyway, there is still a spot of sun and perhaps if I hurry out I can stand on the corner, back against the wall and doze for a moment or two . . .

r p m

THERE IS ONE NICE thing about Spring . . . Nature makes everything look clean and fresh, if you give it half a chance by removing the winter debris. Nature usually makes a better job of it than humans, many of whom seem reluctant to clean up their property and splash a little paint on their buildings. If humans were as efficient as Nature in this matter what a clean and tidy city we would have . . . Clean . . . Cleanup Week . . . that's not for another few days . . . soooo Pardon me! . . . Let's find that spot in the sun . . .

MEN'S CLUB LISTENS TO RUBBER TALK

R. A. Lawrence Gives Interesting Address on Rubber Industry to A.O.T.S. Club

Industry would be seriously curtailed without rubber. R. S. Lawrence told the A.O.T.S. Men's Club at their supper meeting in the United Church parlor, Thursday, April 4th.

Though only 100 years ago its uses were recognized for industry, rubber is now indispensable for hundreds of articles and for transportation purposes. Before it became prominent, however, Mackintosh in 1770 made rain coats from rubber, cotton and turpentine.

Ninety per cent of the raw rubber twenty-five years ago came from the uncultivated, scattered trees of Brazil's forests. Trees were taken to park gardens in London, England, and then to Ceylon from which great plantations grew and also in Malaya, East Indies, Siam, etc. there now being 8,000,000 acres under cultivation. An acre has 100 trees, each tree yielding four pounds of sap annually, with special ones giving thirty pounds.

Seven Years After Production begins seven years after planting and continues for twenty-five years, though some wild trees have given sap for 200 years. An acute rubber shortage occurred in 1910 principally due to the greater demand for rubber tires. The planting of rubber trees in south-east Asia was fortunate for it soon supplied the great quantities needed.

British authorities encouraged growing of rubber trees in Ceylon in place of coffee and Brazil's loss of much rubber trade was made up by leading in coffee. Fifty per cent of rubber production is by the British Commonwealth and forty per cent by the Netherlands East Indies, Japan, United States and France.

The great discovery of vulcanization was made by Charles Good-year in 1839, and was marked last year by centenary celebrations at Akron, Ohio, which Mr. Lawrence attended. Vulcanite was named after the Roman god of fire, and was formed first when Goodyear placed a mixture of sulphur in a hot oven, hiding it from his wife, who disapproved of his experiments.

Terms In Jail Successes with experiments were interspersed with terms in jail for debt in the U.S.A. and France. He owned the first retail hardware store. In 1844, he obtained a patent for curing rubber and displayed his work in England, returning in 1838, and died in 1860 after thirty years of broken health.

Two hundred thousand people are employed in rubber industries with annual wages of $800,000,000. Thirteen thousand of these in fifty factories work in Canada and their annual wages amount to $15,000,000, with 2,400 more workers now than five years ago.

Rubber is important in industry and trade. Eighty million pounds of rubber comes annually from British possessions. Over half the rubber products are for automobiles and one type of car requires 170 different rubber parts.

Benefits to transportation systems and the government include $3,000,000 for the former and $4,000,000 for taxes last year, the rate of taxes being eight times more than in 1920.

Armies need rubber, continued the speaker. Germany's small amount hinders war activities. British ships stop its shipment to Vladivostok for loading by rail to the Reich.

The largest rubber conveyor belt is used at the Coulee Dam. It carries 2,000 tons of sand and gravel an hour and a small part costs $20,000 to replace.

Mr. Lawrence was introduced by George Anderson and thanked by Harry Chapin. Rubber products were used for recreation afterwards, rubber quilts being used on the courts upstairs and shuffleboard on the lower floor.

Invite Junior Boards in Valley To Join Vancouver Caravan

"See B.C. First" Caravan to be in Revelstoke for Opening of Big Bend Highway—Regional Council Session of Junior Boards Held at Salmon Arm

Meeting at Salmon Arm on Sunday afternoon, representatives of five Interior Junior Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce heard the latest developments in the plans being laid by Revelstoke in connection with the opening of the Big Bend Highway on June 29. Al. Hamilton, president of the Revelstoke Junior Board of Trade, was the speaker. He is a former resident of Kelowna and is well known to many persons here.

One of the features of this Big Bend opening will be the visit of the Vancouver Junior Board of Trade, the "B.C. First" caravan, which is to be tendered a dinner and dance at Kamloops on the evening of June 27, a luncheon at Salmon Arm at noon on June 28, and will be royally entertained by the Revelstoke Junior Board on the evening of June 29.

This caravan will attend the opening ceremonies on June 29 and will proceed on to the opening of the Banff-Jasper Highway.

Main Line Boards Invitations were extended by Kamloops, Salmon Arm and Revelstoke Junior Boards and Chambers to the delegates from Okanagan centres to form caravans and join the main Vancouver group at any of the three places.

The Vernon and Kelowna Junior Boards will endeavor to interest a large number of their members to form an Okanagan caravan and go to the main line centres for the functions.

Premier Pattullo will be present for the opening of the Big Bend, and from Ottawa will come Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of Mines and Resources. Mr. Hamilton declared that Revelstoke has been assured that the Big Bend will be opened most of the way and the approaches are being improved even now.

Another caravan from Calgary and Banff will also arrive at Revelstoke on June 29 for the opening. It is expected that great interest will be aroused among Okanagan business men in this opening and a representative group will visit the main line centres for these functions.

Attempts are being made by the publicity committee of the Revelstoke-Golden citizens to have an American caravan visit the Big Bend territory on July 4. Omak, Chelan, Wenatchee, Cashmere, Seattle and immediate points are expected to join together for this trip to the main line territory and will travel through the Okanagan.

A suggestion was made at the Salmon Arm meeting that Revelstoke in its publicity campaign should show the Okanagan road as the proposed route for the Alaska highway.

Highway Matters Two resolutions were passed by the young business men last night before the B.C. Junior Chamber of Commerce convention at Kelowna on May 24 and 25. These dealt with highway matters and urge the provincial government to publication more fully the recent legislation requiring pedestrians walking on highways to walk on the left hand side. Another resolution suggested that the yellow dividing line be placed on hard shoulders and the white line on hills warning against any attempts by motorists to pass each other in dangerous places.

Discussion arose on the general adoption of the use of the word "holidays" to fall on Mondays in all possible cases. There was also some discussion on the proposal which emanated from the general retail merchants bureau meeting in Kelowna of stores closing all day Monday and the elimination of the half-holiday.

Kamloops announced that it is considering opening stores at 8 a.m. and closing at 4 p.m. during three months of the summer.

Report on Work Each junior board or chamber represented submitted complete reports of their undertakings since the last regional council meeting in Vernon last December. These reports indicated that all groups are extremely active and that they are filling a worthwhile place of note in their communities.

The next regional council meeting of Interior junior boards and chambers is to be held in Kamloops in July.

Kamloops, Revelstoke, Salmon Arm, Vernon and Kelowna were represented at this meeting with Vic Nancollas, president of the Salmon Arm Junior Chamber of Commerce, as chairman. The Kelowna delegates were A. Lloyd-Jones, M. F. Chapin, J. L. Gordon and J. R. Tim Armstrong, regional director of the B.C. and Canadian junior chambers of commerce.

More About WHERE DICTATORS

Stalin feels like another campaign so soon, with all the danger of drawing the British Navy into the Black Sea, setting the Turko-Alleed forces in motion and possibly losing his rich Bakou oil field. And it seems almost certain that Hitler does not want to draw Allied armies to the Balkans, for the whole purpose impetus to his manœuvre for a Balkan Pact between the three dictators is to seal that approach to Germany, deny the Allies any pretext for pushing in there and monopolize Balkan supplies for the Reich. Stalin, I think, and Mussolini too, is going to ask "What is there in that for me?" and be suspicious that German economic penetration might soon result in German political domination of that whole region where the ambitions of the three totalitarian powers clash most acutely.

POOR LAND MAY BE TAKEN OUT OF WATER AREA

Peachland Irrigation District to Hear Report on Adviseability of Removing Acreage Unit for Cultivation

The removal of rocky, steep and water-soaked pasture land from the Peachland Irrigation District was discussed at the annual meeting of water users held on Saturday afternoon, April 6, in the Legion Hall. C. F. Bradley, chairman of the Board, presided at the meeting and the financial report was read by the secretary, H. MacNeill.

The District showed an operating surplus of $516 according to this report, with the bank loan of $2,000 still unpaid and outstanding cheques amounting to $2,338.24. Capital expense during the year had totalled $3,530.60, with the bulk of this, $2,153.91, being charged to the North Fork diversion ditch, where a new large flume was built last fall.

Trustee Bradley explained that the expense for the next three years would be comparatively light, but he suggested borrowing $3,000 to pay off all indebtedness, repayment to be made over three years at $1,000 a year. This was approved by the meeting on a resolution by J. Wilson and A. Ruffie.

J. H. Wilson stressed the importance of running the diversion ditch at full capacity for 24 hours a day as soon as it is possible to start. The sooner the North Fork dam is filled, he said, the sooner the creek will run to capacity and the district will have the advantage of the run-off.

B. F. Gummow advocated the deletion of acreage unfit for cultivation and which did not take water and had never taken water from the Peachland Irrigation District. Every acre removed in this way would give the rest of the land a greater storage supply and in dry years the storage available was no more than ample. He advocated a change in the letters patent to have this done, and during the election proper election machinery should also be included.

Opposes Plan Trustee F. Topham opposed this idea and quoted Major MacDonald, Water Comptroller, as having stated that every acre of land below the ditch, even if solid rock, should be included in the Water District.

This was challenged by J. Cameron, who asked for the minutes of a Board meeting to be read at which Major MacDonald's letter had been stating that any land that could be reasonably and profitably cultivated, and which was not too steep or rocky, should be included in the Water District.

A committee of B. F. Gummow, J. Cameron and J. Maddock was appointed to go into this matter and report back to a general meeting. C. F. Bradley was re-elected by acclamation for another three-year term.

H. Ibbotson stressed the importance of having the dam closed as soon as the Macs are ready in the fall, so that all the water left can be retained for another year.

Military Whist The Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion held an enjoyable military whist drive on Wednesday evening, April 3, in the Legion Hall. Canada came out the winner with the most flags, this table being played by Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Long and Mr. and Mrs. C. Duquemin. Brazil, played by Mr. and Mrs. E. Ruffie and Mr. and Mrs. T. Redstone, received the consolation prize. Major MacDonald, past president of the W.A. to the Canadian Legion, will address a meeting here on Thursday evening, April 18.

St. Margaret's Anglican Women's Auxiliary held an enjoyable spring tea on Friday afternoon, April 5, in the Municipal Hall. During the afternoon in the Municipal Hall, the afternoon tea was served. The afternoon tea was won by Mrs. G. Lang.

Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Barwick, Mr. E. Hunt and Mrs. T. Twine returned on Saturday, March 30, after a trip to Merritt and Chilliwack. Mr. and Mrs. Barwick returned to the home in East Kelowna on March 31.

Lee Kyser and Richard Clifford, of Hagerman, arrived on Wednesday, April 2, and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Baptist.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sutherland left last week for a trip to Winnipeg.

Mrs. H. Morgan arrived on Friday, April 5, to visit at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Cousins and Harold Cousins were week-end visitors from Beaverdell.

Mrs. H. Ibbotson, who had been a patient at the Kelowna Hospital, arrived home last week.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Gummow, with John and Noreen, returned home on April 3, after a trip to Victoria.

L. Trautman, G. Eddy and W. Williams arrived home on Wednesday, April 3, after a motor trip to Spokane.

GATHER OREGON GRAPE On Thursday afternoon, Alderman J. H. Horn, accompanied by George F. McKenzie and Bert McHenry, went on a work party and gathered a large quantity of Oregon grape for the centre bed in the City Park.

JUNIOR BOARD SMOKER More than a hundred young men are expected to gather in the Odd-fellows Hall tonight for the semi-annual Kelowna Junior Board of Trade smoker. J. L. Gordon is in charge of the program for this affair.

W. B. BREDIN HEADS CRICKET CLUB FOR 1940

Busy Season for Both Senior and Junior Players Prophesied at Annual Meeting—Try for Spencer Cup Once More

The annual meeting of the Kelowna Cricket Club was held on Monday, when officers were elected and plans made for the coming season. There is every indication of a successful year, and Kelowna will again make a bid for the Spencer Cup, emblematic of the championship of the Okanagan.

W. B. Bredin was named as captain of the club, with Doug Carr-Hilton as vice-captain and E. A. Matthews as secretary-treasurer. Hon. Grote Stirling is the honorary president, and honorary vice-presidents are A. H. Crichton, Capt. C. R. Bull, B. T. Haverfield, Leo Hayes, A. P. Hayes, Len Hayman and G. H. Tutt.

It was decided to hold the first practice on Wednesday, April 17, at the City Park athletic grounds. Juniors will practice at 5:30 o'clock and seniors at 6:30 p.m. on each Wednesday.

First Game, May 5 First game of the season will be played on Sunday, May 5, between teams selected by the captain and vice-captain. Fixtures for Spencer Cup matches with Vernon, Penticton and Salmon Arm are being arranged and will be announced later.

Vancouver Cricket Week has been set for July 8 to 13 and arrangements will be made with Vernon to enter an Okanagan team as usual.

Junior cricket will also have a full season, according to present plans. St. George's School, Vancouver, intends to send a team here in May to play matches with the Kelowna juniors, who last year were guests of the school during Their Majesties' visit. The dates for these matches have not been settled definitely.

Games with Vernon Preparatory School, Vernon and Penticton juniors, and the Fairbridge Farm boys at Fintry are expected to be arranged.

At Okanagan Mission, H. C. Dunlop is coaching smaller boys who will practice in the City Park on Saturday mornings, and will later play the young boys of the Kelowna juniors. Any boy who wishes to learn to play cricket will receive expert coaching on Wednesday evenings at the City Park, it was stated at the annual meeting.

Doug Carr-Hilton is in communication with the provincial Physical Education Department with a view to arranging for the coaching of boys in cricket under the department's auspices, as is done in Vancouver and elsewhere. If this is arranged, practices for juniors will be held twice a week under Mr. Carr-Hilton's instruction.

2 IMPORTANT OTTAWA

the entire deal weighed with much care.

In the meantime, it is likely that a big portion of the export subsidy of $405,000 laid aside by the Dominion government to assist the British Columbia tree fruit industry in competing export shipments to the Old Country will not be used.

Although the subject is still fairly well guesswork, some exporters here estimate that only about $700,000 of the subsidy will be used as the export market strengthened considerably in the last couple of months and B.C. apples which reached the Old Country in good condition brought record prices.

One lucky car is said to have averaged prices of $2 per box recently, without the packing deductions here, but, of course, such prices are the extreme exception.

Practically all of the consigned export up to the first of the year, at least, is said to have called upon the export subsidy to bring the return up to $1.05 per box, the figure agreed upon with the Dominion government.

"Outside capital is coming into this province and investing in sound proposals so close to our noses that we cannot see them. We have wonderful manufacturing possibilities here, especially in textiles. We could have an increase in payrolls of between 25 and 50 per cent if every British Columbian tried to stress B.C. products," he concluded.

During the Quiz program, Mr. Foreman was assisted by George S. Sutherland, chairman of the Kelowna Junior Board of Trade, and three members of the board, including Mr. Foreman, who was the quizmaster.

Max dePuyfver was winner of the $10 blank given away in the drawing. A pleasing result was added when Mr. Foreman presented Mrs. Cameron, charter member of the Women's Institute, with a large jar of coffee.

Dinner Meeting

An informal dinner was tendered Mr. Foreman by the executive of the Kelowna Junior Board of Trade, at the Royal Anne, Monday evening before the public meeting.

About thirty were present and, although speeches were kept to a minimum, Mr. Foreman spoke briefly of the effort of coast business men to help the apple industry of the Okanagan. He lauded the efforts of the Vancouver men in this regard and paid tribute to the fruit men with whom the Vancouver men came in contact.

He stated that the Vancouver apple week and the local B.C. Products week were an indication of the goodwill existing between the coast and the interior and expressed the thought that any furthering of goodwill between the two districts was a valuable contribution to the life of this province.

A. K. Lyd, chairman of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., replied briefly, stating that the fruit people owed much to the efforts of the Vancouver business men who had energetically and unselfishly "gone to town" on the promotion of apple sales.

R. G. Rutherford, J. Spurrier and Lewis Penney, all of the B.C. Trade, acted as chairman of the meeting.

On Tuesday night, Mr. Foreman addressed the Gyo Club of Kelowna on the importance of B.C. products before travelling to Penticton, where the campaign continues.

Mr. Foreman spent from Saturday to Tuesday in Kelowna and had been given credit for stimulating a greater interest in the purchase of B.C. products than ever before.

Frank Lucas stated that Washington reports indicated that the average in rearing ponds across the line indicated only five per cent production of the original production.

Annual Report

At the outset, returning President Jack Stirling submitted his annual report, stating that the game commission now feels that there are greater possibilities in the rearing ponds than was considered a year ago.

During the past year the club had made distinct progress in convincing the farmers that the sportsmen are prepared to aid in the control of pheasants which are damaging crops.

The club is now incorporated under the societies act. Last year, both the interior and B.C. association conventions were held in Kelowna. He suggested that the B.C. association needs better financing before it can operate successfully.

"Stage Hands" Presented by Kelowna Catholic Players

Three-Act Comedy Depicting Snobishness of Family and Futility of Social Climbing Accorded High Praise by Large Audience at St. Joseph's Hall

One of the most appreciated plays staged in Kelowna for some time held the keen interest of an audience of some 230 spectators at St. Joseph's Hall on Thursday evening, April 10, when the Catholic Play Club presented the three-act comedy entitled "Stage Hands."

A lively comedy, the play was produced under the capable direction of Mrs. W. L. Watt, who received high praise for her direction. The audience was greatly amused by the performance of the actors, who portrayed their parts splendidly.

Briefly, the comedy plot centered around the efforts of a family of social climbers and their acquaintances with the upshot being that the one neglected and down-on-his-luck member of the family finally turned up the trump card. The whole world is a stage and most of the occupants are the stage hands, was the moral behind this cleverly-executed comedy.

The scene took place in the large living-room of the Harrington family, where Mrs. Harrington (Cena Fuoco) anxiously awaits the return of her husband, William (Edward Lipinski). Mr. Harrington, a grocery salesman, returns after two weeks' absence only to be continually nagged by his wife.

A prolonged argument takes place but is interrupted by the appearance of Grace Harrington (Tillie Heitzman), who is making preparations to marry the notorious Caldwell (Harold Capozzi).

Love Goes Unnoticed
Patricia Harrington (Blanche Douillard) was the youngest daughter, a happy-go-lucky nature. She is deeply in love with a former sweetheart of her sister but she is unnoticed and he appears to think nothing of her. People believe that she is in love with an middle-aged lawyer, Mr. Flatterly (Victor Casorso).

Tony Anderson (Floyd Caza), the former sweetheart of Grace Harrington, does not discover that Patricia is in love with him, but makes that discovery before it is too late and marries her.

Tillie Heitzman was extremely convincing as the independent daughter of the Harringtons. Her quick and fiery temper played a leading part in her character. B. Douillard was excellent as Patricia Harrington, who did not spare herself in the attempt to convince the audience that she did not count and was not worth bothering about. The part of Tony Anderson was exceedingly well done by Floyd Caza.

The Kelowna Catholic Players Club has been asked to repeat its performance at a later date for a charitable institution, it is stated, and is seriously considering acceptance of the request.

WINFIELD W.I. WOULD FURNISH HOSPITAL WARD

To Approach Farmers' Institute to Determine if Money Can be Raised for Worthy Undertaking

On Monday of last week a group of Winfield ladies met with the Okanagan Centre Women's Institute at the home of Mrs. P. W. Paxon to discuss holding of the annual district convention of the Institute at the Winfield Community hall at a date some time in June. The Okanagan Centre friends will assist in the arrangements.

The regular monthly meeting of the Winfield Women's Institute was then held on Wednesday. A final report on the net proceeds from the card party showed the amount of $11.50 available as a donation to be sent to the Women's Auxiliary of the Kelowna General Hospital.

A suggestion to approach the Farmers' Institute to see if a joint effort could be made to furnish or partly furnish a ward in the new hospital will be carried out.

Arrangements to hold a shower and silver tea, on the first day of May, in aid of the Preventorium were also made.

A decision was arrived at to place milk bottles in stores to receive contributions to buy wool for the making of garments for the men on the trawlers and mine-sweepers. The secretary had received a letter from the district president enclosing a resolution from Penticton for endorsement. The resolution read: "Resolved that the Institutes of the North and South Okanagan be circualarized, with the object of obtaining their support in the publication of a booklet of apple recipes and distribution of same of Women's Institutes in the United Kingdom, in this way promoting the sale of Okanagan apples." The resolution was acted upon by instructing the secretary to forward $1.00 as a contribution to this effort.

A meeting of the local of the B.C.F. G.A. will immediately follow the water meeting.

"RED-HEADED STEPCHILD" IS APPLAUDED

Winfield Audience Appreciates Play Presented by Rutland Young People's Dramatic Society

On Friday evening of last week, a good-sized audience was entertained at the Winfield Community hall, when a three-act play was enacted by the Rutland Young People's Dramatic Society, under the auspices of the Winfield United Church. The cast consisted of the following: Mrs. Edith Russell, Richard's second wife, June Cameron; Mrs. Oliver Woodruff, society matron, Doris Schell; Mrs. Amory Scott, society matron, Irene Zabo; Briggs, the Russell's butler, Ian Hadden; Lucia Russell, their daughter, Enid Eutin; Dudley Russell, their son, Mickey Atkinson; Richard Russell, a financier, Fred Hobson; Elizabeth Russell (Bess), Richard's daughter, from the West, Glorin Eutin; Lord Carrison, presumably Lucia's admirer, Richard Hall; Ethel Ashley, young society girl, Beatrice Eutin; Lucille Christie, young society girl, Alwina Kitch; Flora Farnum, Dudley's innamorata, Dorothy Cross.

Glorin Eutin Leads
The leading lady, Glorin Eutin, as the "Red-Headed Stepchild," which, by the way, was the title of the play, was outstanding in her performance, although every part was exceptionally well taken.

The plot revolved around the stepchild, whose mother had died while she was an infant, and whose father had married a society woman in Chicago. Not wanting to be bothered with the child, they had left her to the care of Richard's brother, who was a cow man in the West. On his death he left everything, including some wise investments to his niece, with one of the cow hands as executor.

Cool Reception
The father, Richard, really wanting his daughter to live with them, takes this opportunity to invite her. On her arrival she is coolly met by her stepmother and Lucia, her half-sister, who are mortified by her manners and direct mode of speech. They engage one tutor after another to teach her but without much success.

Many amusing situations arise and guests are sometimes driven away through Bess' direct manner of speech. Lord Carrison's evident admiration for her causes a scene, with Lucia as the principal, and strengthens her decision to return to her ranch in the West, where she knows her cowboys will welcome her. Falling values in certain stocks on the markets cause her father to be almost crazed, and learning of this (of which none of the family has any intimation), she offers her father money to cover his margins but he refuses to accept it. Later, however, she receives a letter from her pal on the ranch enclosing a cheque for $35,000, being for stocks of hers which he sold just prior to their drop in value, and she endorses it and sends it to the brokers by her cousin, ready to take care of the $25,000 necessary to cover the margins, thereby saving the family from ruin.

Discloses His Love
Lord Carrison tells Lucia he is in love with Bess and shows her that she and her mother have been very cruel to Bess since her arrival and avows his intention to marry her.

Lucia, realizing things has been an engagement which just happened from environment and the will of their people rather than from love, releases him and both go to Bess. Lucia asks her forgiveness and tells her to take the lord. Lucia then tells her mother they have been all wrong and she too begs forgiveness just as Richard learns what Bess has done for them. They ask her to reconsider and remain with them but she refuses to do so, saying she has a new "foreman," Lord Carrison, to break in and will have to be on the job.

Mrs. J. E. Seaton kindly played appropriate music during the intervals between the acts.

The net receipts of $37.70 were equally divided between the Rutland Young People's Dramatic Society and the Winfield United Church.

Following the play, the Winfield Ladies Aid entertained the cast and friends to refreshments, which were served at the home of Mrs. Offerdahl.

All work in connection with making up was done by the personnel of the "Charm Beauty Salon" as a free contribution which was much appreciated.

MOST CARS ARE TOO BIG!

As you buy clothes to fit your person and purse—build a house to be comfortable but not extravagant—why should an over-sized, over-powered, over-appointed car, whether new or used, be considered? Why not purchase a thoroughly up-to-date, brand-new Willys—the car that is adequately sized, adequately powered, stylishly appointed—so that all its provable economies can save more money—to spend at destination rather than for getting there?

ALL HAVE THE SAME FUNDAMENTAL PURPOSE

The most expensive car made may have the wheelbase and weight of a truck, an engine capable of powering an aeroplane, the appointments of a bridal suite, cost the price of a house—yet its real purpose and use is transportation, therefore the way a car is used should decide the one to buy.

DO YOU COMMUTE?

If your use of a car is like that of the great majority of owners, you will commute 98 per cent of the time—back and forth between home, work and nearby places, or between farm and town—your speeds will be far less than 70 miles per hour—you will average fewer than three people per trip—the traffic conditions will require alertness and the parking will not always be easy. These are the reasons why the Willys is more exactly designed to meet the driving and cost requirements of most people. There is no waste of size, weight, or power; everything is ample but not excessive—the long as well as short trips are speedily, comfortably and economically taken.

DOES A LARGE CAR GIVE PRESTIGE?

Some people may think that a large car gives prestige, but even the "Joneses" know that smaller bills, promptly paid, create far more prestige with the people that mean anything.

Pride of ownership usually disappears with the first dent in the fender. A salesman's real opinion of the large car is best known when trading it back in.

WHAT ARE TAXES GOING TO BE?

Looking forward to the next few years, the cost of taxation and of living show upward trends, hence a Willys is not only the best car to buy now, but plays safe when such developments occur... Get a free demonstration of this quality car (guaranteed for 100,000 miles) and you will conclude, as thousands of owners have done, that the Willys meets all motoring requirements; that any larger car is an extravagance and simply a waste of hard-earned money.

THE WILLYS IS NOT SMALL...MOST CARS ARE TOO BIG!

YOUTH CONGRESS GIVEN AIRING

Delegates Explain Functions to Y.P.S. of United Church

Some news of the recent Youth Congress where 200 delegates attended at the Vancouver Normal School, were given to the Y.P.S. of the United Church on April 7th by Lloyd Taggart and Miss Pauline Enkel.

The method of conducting some sessions was described by Lloyd Taggart. Four commissions with about fifty on each had a topic each for discussion on world affairs and problems relating to economics and social and community problems. Each commission had two chairmen, two stenographers and an advisor, one advisor being a U.B.C. professor of economics. Each group had fifteen hours of discussions.

Later, the findings of the four groups were given at the plenary session where all delegates attended. The most important committee was the one formulating resolutions and recommendations.

While some things were attacked it was not because delegates wanted to undermine law and authority, but to remedy the many unwholesome conditions and make a greater country where injustices will be lessened as much as possible, stated the speaker. Studying the complex conditions of life and how to remedy unfairness as well as bringing together young persons of various religious, cultural, racial and political groups were the assembly's aims.

Leader of the Young Liberals, Don McBean, is the Vancouver secretary, President John Jopson of the Anglican Y.P.A. is the Vancouver youth council's head; vice-pres-

Prepare For Tourists Is Clean-up Slogan Throughout Province

Kelowna Junior Board of Trade Sponsors Annual Cleanup-Paintup Campaign in Effort to Present Beautiful, Tidy City to Many Visitors Expected to be in Kelowna This Year—Divide City Into Districts for Accurate Reports on All Property Needing Attention—Junior Boards All Over B.C. Sponsor Movement on April 15-22

PREPARE FOR TOURISTS

"LET'S prepare for the biggest tourist year Kelowna has ever seen by making this city the tidest little city in the interior of British Columbia," urged George S. McKenzie, who heads the Kelowna Junior Board of Trade campaign for "Clean-up-Paintup-Prepare for Tourists" Week, which commences on Monday, April 15, and continues until the following Monday, April 22. Kelowna, in conjunction with nearly every other city and town in the province is staging this preparatory week on these days and whole-hearted support and cooperation is expected from all its citizens.

Revelstoke, Kamloops, Salmon Arm and Vernon are all planning big cleanup week campaigns, sponsored by their local junior boards or chambers of commerce with the full co-operation of city councils, service clubs and other organizations. In the Kootenays, the cleanup campaigns are being sponsored by the junior boards at Trail, Rossland, Nelson and Cranbrook. The same applies at the Coast, where the Vancouver Junior Board of Trade has been the foster parent of the movement and of the coordinating effect throughout B.C.

Complete Survey
Kelowna has been divided into eighteen sections and every member of the Kelowna Junior Board has been instructed to inspect thoroughly some section of the city. A complete checkup of every part of the city will be finished by tomorrow, Friday, April 12, and every piece of rubbish will be noted.

When all this evidence is correlated, it will be handed to the City Council on Monday, April 15, with the request that, if the property needing attention is city-owned, the Council authorize the immediate cleaning up of the lot, by means of relief or other available labor, or, if privately owned, that the citizen responsible for the condition be notified that some action should be taken towards beautifying the premises and presenting a neater and more respectable appearance.

Junior Board crews will inspect their sections of the city during Cleanup Week and ascertain if the City Council or property owner has followed the suggestions made. Captains of the Junior Board crews are: E. L. Adams, George E. Brown, Jack Butt, Malcolm Chapin, Gordon Cooper, Cliff Davis, Jack Gordon, Frank Guerd, George Handlen, Roy Hunt, Art Lloyd-Jones, Peter Murdoch, Bill Riddell, Jim McCalland, Geo. McKay, Bert McKim, Dick Parkinson and Andrew Spencer.

Vacant lots are being checked for weeds, rubbish and general unsightliness. Landscapers and boulevard are to be inspected, business premises checked over and vacant lots in the business district inspected. Possible improvements will be noted to business fronts and suggestions will be passed along to the business firms, it is stated.

General Improvement
In fact, any general improvement and city beautification which can be imagined by the work crews will be undertaken and handed in to the central committee.

Working along with George McKenzie are Harry Witt and Jim Douglas, Junior Board vice-presidents, and a committee of citizens. They have had help in drawing up their plans from E. L. Adams, Frank Elms, Victor Casorso and others.

A report on the activities of the committee was given by George McKenzie at the Friday monthly meeting of the Junior Board at the Royal Anne hotel.

During this week, the Gyro and Rotary clubs receive short pep talks on the subject of the forthcoming Prepare for Tourists Week. The school students learned of the events planned from another Junior Board member, while a trailer is being operated at the Empress Theatre giving publicity to the week.

Recently, Mayor G. A. McKay made a public proclamation concerning the dates chosen and willingly agreed that the Kelowna Junior Board of Trade should take charge of the publicity campaign.

The East Kelowna girls have won the cup for folk dancing three consecutive years. This year they are being coached by their teacher, Mr. Barwick, and Mrs. R. T. HUNDRED ATTEND SUPPER HELD AT WESTBANK

Newly-formed United Church Y.P.S. Receives High Praise for Excellence of its Preparations

Serving supper to approximately 100 people, was the successful undertaking of the Westbank United Church Young People's Society, who were organized but a few weeks ago. These young people were commended for their enterprise, as this supper was the first event of its kind arranged by them, and was an accomplishment worthy of more than passing mention. Some of the older people helped with the serving, dish-washing, etc.

The supper was held from 6 to 8 o'clock, on Thursday, April 14, in the church basement, which had received a coat of whitewash and paint on its rough-finished walls, for the occasion. The tables were loaded with a variety of meals, hot vegetables, salads and pies and jellies for dessert.

From 8 to 9 o'clock, a program of music and educational films was enjoyed by many of the gathering. Contributing to the musical program were Pat Morsch, violinist, of Trepanier, accompanied by his sister, Miss L. Morsch; also Miss Florence Dobbin, in two pretty vocal solos. Rev. W. E. Dovey showed three rolls of films, these consisting of scenes of wild life, etc. in Canadian National Parks; skiing, and so on.

A group of weary young people were more than ready for their beds that night, after an effort which was well worth while, as evidenced by the satisfied countenances of those who partook of the variety and abundance of the delicious things served. Well over twenty dollars were taken in, practically all of which will go towards the church building fund.

Farewell Shower

Mrs. S. J. (Fet) Hewlett, and her elder daughter, Hazel, were hostesses to over forty people on Friday evening, April 5; the occasion being a farewell handkerchief shower and party in honor of Miss Kaye Bosch, of Bawit, Alta., who leaves for her prairie home this week.

During the couple of years Miss Bosch has spent in Westbank she has won many friends, all of whom regret her leaving again. They all hope, however, that her stay in Alberta will be brief, and that she will decide to return to Westbank very soon. Following the presentation of many little gifts to the guest of honor, dancing was enjoyed for several hours. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by several of the guests.

Patients in Hospital

David Basham, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Basham, Sr., is progressing favorably since the operation he underwent for mastoid, early last week, at the Kelowna General Hospital. Dudley Fritchard, another Westbank school-age boy, underwent an appendectomy early on Saturday, April 6. W. R. Smith, who was a patient for several months in Kelowna hospital, was well enough to return to his home last week.

Attends Musical

Music-lovers of Westbank, or as many as could obtain rides, motored to Kelowna on Friday evening, where they attended the United church on the occasion of the rendering of Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise" and the program of musical numbers, by Cyril Mossop and the choir of the church.

Mrs. J. L. Dobbin, of Westbank, took an alto solo part in this rendering. Those who were able to attend, and there were many who wished to go, but were unable to do so, were loud in their praise of this musical treat, which was so beautifully executed.

Mrs. Ashton, who had been staying with her mother, Mrs. G. W. Stubbs, returned to her home in Kelowna at the latter part of the week.

A STUDY OF B.C. FRUIT ON PRAIRIE MARKETS

By
J. E. BRITTON,
Summerland Experimental Station.

BARTLETT IS MOST POPULAR PEAR

A study of the market for pears involves the question of variety because of varietal season, storage capacity, appearance and popularity.

The returns which the grower receives for a variety have a great influence on the amount of care and attention he can devote to the production of the crop. Based on responses from the important varieties are Anjou, Bartlett, Dr. Jules Guyot and Winter Nellis. The Dr.
Jules Guyot "gets by" on the market because it matures a little ahead of Bartlett, which is the most popular variety.

Bartlett is the popular pear, possessing the ideal appearance generally associated with pears, and coming on the market at a time when fresh fruit is not available. This variety was prominently displayed wherever fruit was offered for sale, single, in tin-tops, baskets or boxes, and reasonably priced. With few exceptions the quality was good and the pears had been ripened to just the proper degree, allowing some latitude for immediate use of several days delay. Some retail stores remarked that pears this year were the best yet. Nevertheless, there were "some flies in the ointment."

Maturity and Storage Affect Condition

Generally speaking, pears were so good upon the market that individual cases of unsatisfactory arrivals became conspicuous. When these pears were caught before they reached the retail trade, settlement was arranged with the grower and while the growers would sustain some loss the market was not damaged. One shipment of 300 boxes in a stock car showed 89 boxes yellow but the balance quite satisfactory. In another car, which arrived on September 10, 39 boxes of Bartlett pears, sizes 135 to 165, were ripe. They were yellow and could not be sold to the Trade. From another car the pears were ripe to the extent of some core breakdown, but the market was not damaged.
The loss was only $50.00. Still another car carried 150 boxes of Bartlett and a peck of trouble. These pears were warm in core and the core of the boxes. They were placed immediately in cold storage but when pears start to ripen they are difficult to save. The important thing, however, is to determine the cause of such wastage with a view to avoiding it in the future. There are two mistakes which may have been responsible for these troubles.
In one case the pears were evidently not picked on time. This year the pressure test for Bartlett was set at 20 to 18 pounds and directions were issued to have all of the pears picked within ten days from starting. When this practice was followed it gave unprecedented satisfaction in the pear deal.

In the past some of the heaviest claims on pears have been due to prolonged harvesting to gain size, but the damage is not repaired by payment of claims. Sometimes the pears have reached the retail store only to prove a snare and a delusion, disappointing to dealer and consumer, and destroying confidence in B.C. fruit. During my visit to the market in 1937 I bought some fine looking Bartlett's in a Winnipeg store. While they were of good appearance I found them to be dry and mealy, a condition that develops in pears picked overma-ture, a condition which might easily convey the wrong impression about pears. However, the weak pears do not always reach the consumer.
They are often caught by the jobber and claims for wastage registered against the shipment. I saw this at another distributing point in 1937, when a car from the Okanagan was being unloaded. Part of the shipment of pears showed yellow and every box had to be opened in order to segregate those that could be sold. Although an attempt was made to check ripening by cold storage, most of the yellowed pears went brown at the core and turned mushy in a short time. A claim was registered and the final settlement amounted to nearly $200.
But a real settlement could only come through an investigation into the causes; an investigation which might begin at the market but end in an orchard. It is courting trouble to leave Bartlett's unthinned and to deliver them to the packing house over a period of thirty days.

Another mistake has been made by delayed cold storage or cold storage which is not cold enough to chill pears to the core, where the temperature should be lowered to 32° F. Pears stored at 40° F. ripen abnormally resulting in quite unsatisfactory fruit. Therefore, as soon as yellowing begins at any low temperature, the pears should be moved to 60° to 65° to ripen.

Black-end and mildew
pears are seldom found in the packed fruit but both were seen in retail stores. The black-end on some pears in tin-tops covered with cellophane, then under boxed pears. These disorders are best detected in the orchard where they are confined to individual trees. When a few black-end pears are found on a tree it is quite probable that all the fruit on that tree will be affected, as pears not showing the characteristic black spot may have a protruding calyx-end which turns yellow prematurely. It remains hard and woody. In the case of mildew, the affected pears have a strong tendency to shrivel as well as being spotted and disfigured. In a certain case it was better to leave such fruit in the orchard than risk having it reach the market.

The best size in Bartlett pears is 135. Some larger are preferred by a certain trade, but smaller than seem to suit general requirements but very small sizes do not meet with favor. Ontario pears in eleven-quart baskets showed little difference when marked either No.
1 or No. 2. They were on a par with B.C. Cee grade, were medium, made without very careful consideration.

Regarding the picking of pears,
we have recommended better growing for this crop and a selection of trees when picking starts, to try to obtain maturity of about 17 per cent sugar, which might require in some cases the making of two pickings. However, it is recognized that advantage must be taken of every possible day for the distribution of this crop. It is also realized that certain markets will gladly accept pears of lower sugar content, as they are chiefly cooked with sugar for fresh fruit sauce.

Prunes, therefore, present a problem of orderly harvesting as well as orderly marketing. It seems reasonable that prunes should be picked from the earliest orchards first and in amounts to supply immediate market requirements at the earliest possible date. Cold storage of prunes should be avoided as far as possible because this fruit is much better on the trees than in storage, up to the time it passes the 17 to 20 per cent sugar content.

On the trees prunes may be improving every day, while in storage they soon begin to lose quality. In 1938 the last car of prunes to leave the Valley, picked the day before loading, was reported on at the market as the best of the entire season.

Wealthy Apples Well Received

Wealthy had the whole stage to itself so far as apples were concerned and some Wealthies were a real show product. Everyone seemed to be pleased with their size, colour and maturity, but they were not all cleared up when the Macs were expected to arrive. In spite of the fact that they are often a better apple to use than the first arrival of Macs. However, all was not perfect, and the purpose of this investigation was to find the imperfections so that improvement might be made.

From a certain district came green Wealthy and pitted or spotted Hyslop. Some poor looking Wealthy from another district showed bitter-pit and browning, and some large sizes were severely bruised. In one store some Cee grade looked very fine beside some F and J which were green and not selling, even at a lower price.

Other varieties present were Gravenstein, which were large and soft with some bitter-pit. McIntosh packed in flats and in poor condition; Cellini at $1.70 per box marked "Cee" but on the floor a week and not sold; Hyslop crabs were generally very fine but a few marked "Cee" looked more like Cee grade; Transcendents in several cases showed meanness and breakdown either due to over-maturity or over-storage.

There seems to be lack of understanding about fruit with regard to storage life: that fruit is a living, breathing product with a limited life: that usually the earlier the variety the shorter its life. On September 10th I saw Transcendent crabs as well as Rochester and Belle of Georgia peaches still on sale. There is a limit to the storage life of each variety past which it cannot go and still retain its characteristic quality.

WANT SIGNS AT CITY ENTRANCES

That a definite effort should be made before the tourist season commences to erect proper approach signs to the city for the benefit of visitors was urged at the junior board April monthly meeting by Ald. R. E. Parkinson, on Friday evening at the Royal Anne hotel.

This subject has been mooted in junior board circles for the past two years but no action has resulted. He wished action to be taken within the next month and have appropriate signs giving the name of the city and population erected for both approaches to the city.

Jack Gordon made the suggestion that small signs could be placed along the roadside and on bridges informing the walking public that on the highways they must keep to the left hand side of the road. His suggestion is to be passed on to the provincial assistant district engineer, G. N. Stowe.

RUTLAND SEES FIRST SHOWING OF FINE PLAY

"Red-Headed Stepchild" Greeted by Capacity House on Opening in Rutland Community Hall—B.C.F.G.A. Monthly Meeting Held

A full house greeted the raising of the curtain on Thursday evening in the community hall when a cast of young people presented a three-act comedy entitled "The Red-Headed Stepchild." The story of the play deals with the events that befall a high spirited young girl, "Bess Russell," who has been living since childhood on a western ranch with an uncle, and upon his death goes to live with her father, step-mother, brother and sister in Chicago. Immediately upon her arrival they begin to educate her in the ways of "high society" and this proves a painful process for all concerned. The red-headed stepchild does not like kindly to the artificiality of city life, but finds a kindred spirit in her step-brother "Dudley Russell." "Troubles increase when 'Lord Garrison,' a guest, transfers his affections from 'Lucia Russell' to the new arrival. In the finale, the father loses his fortune in a stock market crash, but the red-headed step-child saves the day by coming to their aid with a fortune left to her by her uncle with whom she spent her early life, and all are happy once more.

The leading part of "Bess Russell" was taken by Glorin Eutin, who seemed born to the part, and whose performance was largely responsible for the success of the production. Several newcomers to amateur theatricals made their debut in this performance, including Dick Hall, as "Lord Garrison," Allen Atkinson as "Dudley," Irene Szabo as "Mrs. Emory Scott" and Alwina Kitch as "Lucille Christy." All carried their parts in the style.

Great credit goes to Fred Hobson, who took the heavy part of the father "Richard Russell" at four days' notice, yet gave a perfect performance. The part was originally taken by Fred Brummer, who was taken ill with the flu and was a patient in the Kelowna Hospital when the play was produced.

Miss Evelyn Scott directed the play and the success of the production indicates that her hard work in this was largely responsible for the showing made by the young actors. Mrs. C. L. Granger, of the Charm Beauty Parlor, and her staff supervised the making of the costumes. Music was kindly supplied by the Glenmore Orchestra. On behalf of the W.A. of the United Church, under whose auspices the play was performed, Mrs. W. H. Ford presented a presentation to Miss Scott in appreciation of her work.

Following production of the play in Rutland, repeat performances were given at Windermere Mission on Monday evening. Another performance is to be given in Kelowna early in May.

Vance Is Speaker
The monthly meeting of the B.C. F.G.A. was held in the library room of the community hall on Monday evening, April 8th, with a good attendance of growers. The speaker for the evening was Vance, manager of the Kelowna Growers Exchange, who spoke on marketing problems, pooling and other matters connected with the handling of the fruit crop. His address was very interesting and at the close a period of questioning followed, in which Mr. Vance enlightened the growers on a number of matters of interest. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the speaker at the close of his talk. A resolution asking the railway companies to notify consignees of the arrival of goods at points between Kelowna and Vernon was passed unanimously. It was pointed out that goods put off at these flag stations could be left there indefinitely, as no notification is given by the railway when the goods are put off at the Rutland Station. The secretary was requested to obtain Dr. James Marshall, of Vernon, as the speaker for the next meeting, if possible. The meeting then adjourned at the relatively early hour of 10 p.m.

The first baseball practice of the season was held on Sunday afternoon, but inclement weather handicapped the turn-out. While no club meetings have been held as yet the indications are that the Adanacs

The three young business men grasping their tools firmly are the mainstays of the Junior board committee in charge of the campaign and are Harry Witt, Jim Douglas and George McKenzie, while President Bill Haddell looks on as supervisor with a knowing smile on his face. Further details of the campaign may be found on Page 7 of this issue.

Monetary Reform
Capt. C. R. Bull M.L.A. was the guest speaker at the regular monthly supper meeting of the Rutland A.O.T.S. when they met at the United Church on Monday evening, April 8th. He took as his subject "Monetary Reform," and dealt with the need for utilizing the government's credit facilities in the Bank of Canada to solve the problems of unemployment that will arise after the war. He quoted extensively from the MacMillan report and a recently published book by Graham Towers to support his arguments. The meeting received his address very favorably and arrangements were made to form a study group to give the ideas further consideration.

Election of a new president for the club took place, occasioned by the departure for Creston of Ivan Staples. The new president is Harry Hobbs, the choice being unanimous. The club is undertaking to beautify the church grounds, and a bee is to be organized for this coming Saturday for that purpose.

MISSION ACCORDS RUTLAND PLAYERS FINE RECEPTION

"Red-Headed Stepchild" Presented to Audience of 150 at Okanagan Mission on Monday Evening—Glorin Eutin Stars

On Monday evening the Rutland Young People's Dramatic Club gave a performance of "The Red-Headed Stepchild" in the Community Hall before an audience of over 150 people. The play was sponsored by the Mission Skating Club.

No matter whether the play is Chicago's idea of the West or the West's idea of Chicago, or some one else's idea of both, the three acts went through at a lively pace set by Glorin Eutin as the "Red-Headed Stepchild," supported by a cast who one and all followed nobly in her wake and made the most of their fewer opportunities. Mickey Atkinson was particularly bright as the irresponsible Dudley, and Fred Hobson is to be congratulated for his performance at such short notice as Richard Russell, the considerably harassed father. Both the cast and the audience evidently enjoyed the performance throughout, which leaves little more to be said. Musical selections were provided by the Mission Aces in the intervals and Mrs. R. Cousins delighted the audience with her two songs. Miss Glorin Eutin and Miss Scott, who directed the play, were presented with bouquets at the close of the performance, which many hope will mark a real revival of dramatics in the Mission.

The new stage curtain, only completed last Saturday night, worked perfectly; its mechanics, unsuspected by the audience, are a real work of art.

Miss L. Simmons left on Sunday on a visit to Portland, Oregon.

Mrs. Fuller returned from Vancouver on Tuesday, April 2. She had been staying with her daughter, Mrs. F. Marchbanks, since January.

Commander Baldwin returned to the Mission on Tuesday, April 2, after spending the winter at the Coast. At present he is the guest of his brother, St. George F. Baldwin.

Gifford Thomson is a patient in the Kelowna Hospital with two cracked bones in his ankle.

A passenger on board ship found that he had left his toothbrush in the washroom. Returning to recover it, he found a man using it. "Sir," he exclaimed in amazement, "that is my brush you are using!"

Hampton Court Palace, England, the magnificent residence which Cardinal Wolsey built and later presented to King Henry VIII, has nearly one thousand rooms.

its suitable bit to provide the troops in the field with necessities and comforts and to prepare them for the day when they will return to civil life.

After having spent the winter months in residence at the coast, Madame deNogueria and Mrs. L. Godfrey Isaacs returned to their home at Oyama on April 2. They were accompanied by Miss Fanny Wellner, of Paris, who will make her future home in Oyama.

Thomas Hartley Tait, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Tait, of Oyama, was christened on April 7 by Rev. C. S. Wright in the Anglican Church. His godfathers were Canon Parrott, of Vernon, and Luke Norman, of Oyama, and his godmother was Mrs. Parrott.

The announcement has been made of the impending marriage of Miss Adele Sheppard and Bob Rea on April 15.

OYAMA FIRST AID CLASS TAKES TESTS

Dr. Strong, Vernon, in Charge of Examining Twenty-three Students Enrolled—Dance is Enjoyable Affair

The class of twenty-three which took the St. John's Ambulance course of first aid and studied under Dr. E. W. Prowse, of Vernon, took their examinations on Monday, April 1. Dr. Strong, of Vernon, was in charge of the examinations and was assisted by Miss M. B. Prowse and Mrs. M. Y. McGuire. Dr. Prowse attended as hon. secretary of the Vernon centre and made arrangements for four of the men to take lectures for the industrial course.

The dance held by the Oyama Basketball Club on April 5 rivalled the success of their previous dance on February 1. An indication of the success of the dance for an hour after the time advertised. Art Degner and G. C. Bissell, both of Oyama, won the lucky draws. Roy Endersby's Orchestra provided the music.

A concert will be held on Friday, April 12, in the Community Hall, by the Oyama school. The play will also be presented by the Vernon Little Theatre.

Mrs. Shaw-MacLaren returned from her trip to the coast on April 8.

After having spent the winter months in residence at the coast, Madame deNogueria and Mrs. L. Godfrey Isaacs returned to their home at Oyama on April 2. They were accompanied by Miss Fanny Wellner, of Paris, who will make her future home in Oyama.

DUPLICATION OF EFFORT AVOIDED

Directorate of Auxiliary Services Created for Welfare Activities

To avoid duplication of effort and wastage in the welfare activities on behalf of Canada's enlisted men, the Directorate of Auxiliary Services has been created in the Department of National Defence. Well over two hundred charitable organizations, well-known to Canadians, come under its supervision.

The Directorate of Auxiliary Services is a military organization. It operates under the Adjutant-General and is subject to military rules and discipline. It aims to avoid the mistakes of the Great War, when wastage resulted from lack of central direction in the auxiliary services of the Dominion.

It is the duty of the Directorate to insure that welfare and comforts provided by charitable organizations are administered fairly among all branches of the service. Its chief officer is a Director, responsible for administration of services in Canada, England and France, and assistant director and an auxiliary service officer in each military district in Canada. Through this organization the gap between the armed forces of Canada and civilian organizations working for their welfare is bridged and efficient co-operation is made possible.

Welfare organizations are playing a big part in Canada's war effort. They have relieved the Government of a costly and complicated duty. They own and maintain buildings and equipment valued in the hundreds of thousands of dollars. These are at the disposal of the troops at no cost to the Government. Through these organizations, Canadian patriotism and the will to serve, evinced throughout the Dominion, have been mobilized and diverted into practical channels of service. The whole welfare structure in Canada is based on voluntary service. Under supervision of the Directorate of Auxiliary Services, each organization is doing
